Summit Solutionz	Certified Audio Visual	No	No	No	Solutionz is working diligently with our manufacturing partners to ensure that we have foresight into what is coming down the pike. Currently we are not seeing any constraints on materials, but there is concern in the air that this is a possibility. From a labor perspective we are prepared and ready to service if we can gain access to the facilities to perform the work. With that being said many of our clients (K12 districts and State Universities) are varied in who will grant access during this shut down. It is a case by case basis.
Audio Visual Innovations (AVI-SPL)	Certified Audio Visual Products and Select Services, Computer Peripherals and Gen. AV Products.	No	Yes	No	With the impact of the coronavirus continuing to expand, we wanted to share the steps that AVI-SPL is taking to stay informed about the anticipated effects on our supply chain and the proactive measures we can all take to maintain critical project timelines for our Customer engagements. We are working with our partners to maintain visibility on supply chain impact by partner. We have created an internal task force and are working with our suppliers and partners daily to evaluate supply chain impact, inventory levels, pipeline, and many other factors. We are seeing some impact and have created a partial list to show those details by vendor in an effort to provide visibility so that we can proactively work with our customers to minimize the impact to our customer projects.
SCW	Certified Audio Visual, Tier 1 Audio Visual Products, CCTV - Closed Circuit TV	No	No	No	SCW is running smoothly via social distancing/remote work plans for non-critical employees and is currently not experiencing any adverse conditions due to COVID-19. Known systematic supply chain issues with some suppliers (notably shortages on intel chipsets) remain a headwind on the supply side for some items, and we are updating our customers on those impacts as more information becomes available. Environmental Products	Tractors & Mowers	No	No	No	Currently we are open and fully operational. Our Parts Teams are opting to ship parts when customers need parts as first line of movement and if they are an emergency or they need same day parts pickup, we have set up parts kiosks outside the building to reduce human to human contact. For trucks coming into our shop and prior to leaving, we are sanitizing contact points (handles, keys, drive selection and steering wheels). For nonessential employees running the dealership, we have sent teams to work remote. Those teams include Sales, Marketing, Finance and Admin. Everyone is working, but at different locations. Furthermore, we have ample supplies of parts, new and used units for quick delivery and rental trucks available to be able to service all of our customers.
GC&E	Tractors & Mowers	No	No	No	GC&E is preparing for the worst and hoping for the best just like many others. Presently, we are fully staffed and we are not experiencing any difficulties in ordering or procuring needed equipment related to DOAS projects. Our engineering, estimating - sales teams are working on preparing the requested quotes for the various DOAS customers that we serve. We are experiencing a little pushback from some of our existing DOAS customers that do not have the personnel to meet with our folks out at the job sites. They have asked us to stand down and we have obliged them.
Hall Manufacturing	Tractors & Mowers	No	No	No	As the coronavirus pandemic continues to impact our personal and professional lives, accompanied by growing health concerns, Hall Manufacturing will adhere to all Center for Disease Control (CDC) and Arkansas Department of Health (ADH) guidelines. This does NOT currently affect the delivery of Bush-Whacker rotary mowers and parts. Daily operations and our supply chain remain intact at this time.
