1	There are several commodities that are globally on back order with manufacturers. Webcams, headsets, Chromebooks are the most severe at this time with roughly 6-12 week lead times.	7/29/2020 6:22 PM
2	On the high demand items. We continue to work with your vendors and look for new vendors to help secure the product	7/29/2020 10:16 AM
3	Not to my knowledge currently.	7/28/2020 7:28 PM
4	Available stock levels vary by individual products and can change minute to minute. Whenever possible, SHI has identified popular products and product lines, and has increased inbound inventory to improve ETAs. SHI has direct electronic access to a global distribution network, and customers who are able to utilize reasonable alternatives in product order, shipping carrier and location of shipping warehouse may be able to significantly improve the ETA of their order.	7/28/2020 4:19 PM
5	On some components. But not a lot. It really depends on if the plant is hit with a C-19 and have to shut the plant down for 7-14 days.	7/28/2020 12:13 PM
6	Some Sharp displays	7/28/2020 8:48 AM
7	Plexi for dividers and glass for dividers. All other raw materials are currently on time.	7/27/2020 6:11 PM
8	Some items for parts procured locally in the US have been delayed due to the COVID shutdowns. We are working closely with the companies to resolve any issues with backorders.	7/27/2020 1:59 PM
9	We can't do 100% but we are an American manufacturer with mostly American sourcing - so we are experiencing little trouble with backorder (mostly due to fabric, when applicable)	7/27/2020 1:50 PM
10	Multiple manufacturers and suppliers are experiencing longer delays in the hvac and electrical industries mainly.	7/27/2020 9:47 AM
11	Mainly mobile products, like Chromebooks and WinBooks.	7/27/2020 9:43 AM
12	We have a total of $25K orders on our Backorder Report	7/27/2020 9:22 AM
13	The majority of our products remain on a 3 week lead time to produce. We do have a couple items (table bases) that are on extended lead times of up to 6 weeks, due to delays we are having from our suppliers. However, 98% of our products are at the 3 week lead times. All of our facilities are up and running at full capacity. The situation is being monitored daily in our area. We do have the ability to move production of our products from one facility to another, as each of them are located in different cities and several in rural areas.	7/27/2020 9:19 AM
14	We are not currently experiencing any delays with new orders, but that could change depending on the situation with COVID.	7/27/2020 8:49 AM
15	Some equipment models are becoming a little harder to locate than others, but we're working with customers to ensure that they are not without equipment, even if it means through temporary loaners	7/27/2020 8:00 AM
16	For material manufactured by JCI we are generally able to provide in 1-3 weeks. We are suppliers of 3rd party products as well, those of which we cannot attest to their stock availability over the next 6 months.	7/27/2020 7:07 AM
17	The biggest backorder item is Chromebooks	7/26/2020 7:48 PM
18	Not sure.	7/24/2020 4:22 PM
19	No	7/24/2020 4:12 PM
20	Our products may exceed a six month delay by the end of the year.	7/24/2020 3:52 PM
21	Yes on certain small items but 95% of all major chassis components are available.	7/24/2020 3:35 PM
22	Electronics manufacturers cannot keep up with the current demand because of the significant changes to online learning. As a result of this change, we are seeing a tremendous backlog of video and distance learning cameras and microphone solutions.	7/24/2020 3:29 PM
23	in certain areas	7/24/2020 3:25 PM
24	Yes; Given 39 different multiple award schedule contracts, of which 34 of these are state	7/24/2020 3:24 PM

contracts, agencies have been considerate & in understanding that manufacturers are reliant on the supply chain, and that the US supply chain has been having difficulties thereby causing occasional delays in delivery.
